Gary,

Per the statement he has in the email in this trail of emails he wants to know if sites at 4904 Griggs Road, 5910 Wayland Street and 4900 Griggs Road in Houston, Texas have been cleaned up? He uses the name CES Site in Houston and asks about Environmental Services at the three locations that I listed. See his question in the email below.

 Israel,
 Gary Moore (OSC) worked on the CES Site. He is most familiar with the EPA removal worked conducted there. TCEQ is currently working with the PRPs to conduct additional investigation work at the site.

Chris,

See below. I thought that I had passed this along to you previously but am not sure.

Can you get back to me with info on the CES site?

Dear Ms. Clancey,

Thank you for doing your agency's Brownfields Redevelopment Program presentation to the Southeast Houston Transformation Alliance (SEHTA) group yesterday.

As you can see from the correspondence below, I have asked for followup information from the EPA about the CES site.

I was referred to EPA's Mr. Israel Anderson who is in charge of the area and I am waiting for his response to my questions to him.

I have cc'd the other EPA staffers who are aware of my outreach to EPA about CES and the SEHTA leadership and Councilperson Boykins.

As we told you yesterday we have asked for and are waiting for more information from the EPA about this CES site.

For your research here links to a list of articles about the site:

Has this site actually been cleaned up? Some people think not. Please advise.

I work in the area.

We just met in the hallway this morning.

Here is the Houston story I mentioned to you:

<http://offcite.org/saving-grace-a-small-experiment-by-two-architecture-students-led-to-a-big-struggle-for-their-neighborhood/>

I will contact Israel Anderson so thank you for his name.

FYI, here is my own work:

<http://www.houstonpublicmedia.org/news/video-whispering-bayou-at-the-contemporary-arts-museum-houston/>

I am researching successful urban waterway clean ups as we re working to do so in Southeast Houston's Brays Bayou..

If you can please pass this information on to me at this email.

Thanks,
